WILL PUTS UP AT ROGERS HOTEL IN CLAREMORE, OKLA.

(Special To The News)

CLAREMORE, Okla., Feb. 17.

—I sure used to enjoy Gen.

Grant and

Jesse James

when they had

smokeless

cigars named after 'em, but here I am sitting in the brand new,

up-to-date

hotel in the southwest, the

Will Rogers

Hotel, in Clare-

It's six stories high. That's higher than any hotel in London, and it's got more baths in one room than in all of Buckingham Palace where the king lives. Got more elevators than the Rice Hotel in Houston had during the Democratic convention, and these run cracked ice and White Rock into each room.

That's standard equipment.

Here is the town where you take those baths that cure you of everything but being a Democrat.

I know now how proud

Christo Columbus felt when he heard they had named Colum-buis, Ohio, after him.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

From the number of juveniles who are being apprehended here for crimes of various sorts, it appears to Pa New that what is needed in New Castle and Lawrence County is more realization of responsibility on the part of parents. There is something wrong with homes where children of tender ages are being allowed to become mixed up in lawbreaking episodes regularly.

Sunday morning's temperature came close to the low point of the winter, the official thermometer registering five degrees below zero at the Water Works. The lowest temperature of the year was eight below, which was reached twice during January.

Pa New observed a 1930 Minnesota license plate on the streets Sunday. It is one of the prettiest issued by any state with black letters on a silver background.

This merit badge exhibition under Boy Scout auspices on the 27th promises to create intense competition between the county troops. Each will likely enter some kind of a display and the winning exhibit will bring an attractive award for its owners. Most every Boy Scout is busy working on some project right now and will be until after that date.

Another sign of spring was reported this morning to The News. Miss Anne Mary Cunningham reports a flock of wild geese flew over Nesheonock township Sabbath evening about 5 o'clock. There appeared to be about 30 in the flock and they were flying northwest.

Radio fans report this morning an exceptionally clear broadcast from Sydney, Australia. A two way conversation between the Pittsburgh announcer and the Australian announcer was much enjoyed by the fans. These broadcasts are made every Monday morning from 7:30 to 8:30.

A car with automobile license No. 97679 collided with the rear end of a wagon at the corner of North and Cochran streets, Saturday afternoon. No damage was done.

LLEWELLYN DENIES MISCONDUCT CHARGE

Councilmen Vote After Hearing Evidence For Removal Of Officer

Council today sat as a trial board and after hearing testimony in the case of Thomas Llewellyn, city policeman, accused of misconduct, voted to discharge him. The motion was presented by Councilman Reeves and passed unanimously. Llewellyn was charged with offenses dating as far back as 1927 but the principal charge and testimony which brought the recommendation for dismissal concerned the alleged accusation of two women and the alleged attempt to make a date with one of them.

Pine Street Home Is Guttured By Fire Sunday

Damage Of Close To $3,500 Caused By Blaze In Home Of Charles George

FIREMEN KEPT BUSY BY OTHER ALARMS

Fire of undetermined origin, which started in the home of Charles George of 206 Pine street at 12:25 Sunday afternoon, caused damage of approximately $3,500.

The fire started at the head of the cellar stairs and was discovered by members of the family had gained such a headway, that firemen were seriously handicapped in fighting the blaze.

Mrs. George, who discovered the fire screamed and awakened her husband, who was asleep on the second floor. He rushed down, and opening the cellar door, was greeted with a blast of flame which shot into the room.

Second Alarm. An alarm was sounded from box 311 calling No. 4 and Truck B. from the Central department. Two streams of water were laid to the house, but Chief Lynn sent in a second alarm at 1 o'clock, when the fire kept breaking out in lowest spots in the house, making it difficult to bring the blaze under control. The rest of the Central equipment and No. 3 department responded.

Firemen and neighbors assisted in removing some of the furnishings and household effects from the burning home, but considerable damage was done to both the home and contents, the loss being estimated by Chief Lynn at $1,500 on the house and $1,800 on the contents, all covered by insurance.

A number of other alarms were answered over the week-end by the firemen from the various departments.

Other Alarms. Firemen were called to the People's Store at 207 East Washington street at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, when the manager of the store noticed a strong odor of gas in the room. An investigation by Assistant Fire Chief Stockman revealed that a gas stove in the basement had been turned too high and that part of the gas was not burning.

At 6:35 Saturday evening, an alarm from Box 83 called them to 210 Phillips street, where a leaking gas line had set fire to a machine owned by Bennie Pollebne. The blaze was put out with a garden hose by Mr. Pollebne, before the firemen arrived.

When the call was received by the firemen, their informant just stated that there was a fire on Phillips street, and No. 5 department was ordered to start in at the lower end of the street, while Truck A and Assistant Chief Stockman started in at the upper end of the street, finally discovering where the fire had been.

At 11:35 Saturday evening, they were called to the residence of J. A. Gillespie of 425 East Lutton street by an alarm from Box 54, where it was found that a burning chimney had been the cause of the alarm. There was no damage.

At 12:30 Saturday evening, an alarm was sounded from box 16 when a man (Continued On Page Two)

Philadelphia Hotel "Whoopie Party" Is Halted By Officers

Score Of Prominent Business And Social Men And Wives Nabbed In Hotel Raid

Officials Of Ben Franklin Hotel Protest Raid Was Staged In Illegal Manner

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—The arrest of more than a score of business men and their wives on charges of illegal possession of liquor while attending a party Sunday at the Benjamin Franklin hotel here caused a sensation in exclusive hotel and club circles today.

The raid, conducted by 30 police-men in plain clothes, took place while a party being held in two suites on the fourth floor was at the height of its gaiety. Two detectives who had registered under fictitious names at the well known hostelry had tipped off the raiders.

Eleven Are Women.

Eleven of the prisoners were women. All were herded into four patrol wagons and rushed to the central police station.

About ten quarts of whisky and gin and a number of empty bottles, cracked ice and ginger ale were seized, police said.

The hotel management in a formal statement charged the police conducted the raid without warrants and that the detectives violated the Pennsylvania state hotel code by registering under fictitious names and failing to protest to the hotel management.

The raid, it was learned today, was made at the specific request of L. B. Schofield, director of public safety, who threatens to make similar raids on other of the city's prominent hotels if their officials "continue to refuse to cooperate with him in the enforcement of prohibition."

Father Makes Visit To Irene

Joe Crawford Makes Visit To Jail On Sunday Afternoon

BLONDE PRISONER NOW TWENTY-ONE

Joe Crawford, the fish peddler of Benwood, W. Va., saw his daughter Irene Schroeder on Sunday afternoon, February 16 for the first time since that cold night in December when she left Donnie with him, following the shooting of Corporal Brady Paul on the Butler Road.

With one of Irene's sisters, Mr. Crawford visited the county jail and spent some time with Irene in her cell. The visitors had come from Youngstown, O., where on Sunday afternoon a conference of defense attorneys with Mr. Crawford, Mrs. Maud Shoenian, Mrs. Muldoon, and Mrs. Ray Schroeder, sister of Irene was held.

It is likely that Mr. Crawford and one or two of the sisters will be with Irene at the time of the trial, although this is merely conjecture.

Irene Is Now 21

(International News Service) WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 17.—Today is the twenty-first birthday anniversary of Irene Crawford Schroeder, "Blonde Trigger Woman," who is being held at New Castle, Pa., in connection with the murder of Corporal Brady Paul, state highway policeman. Irene was born here February 17, 1909.

Investigation of the girl's record shows that her mother died when the girl was only eight years old. In her youth, she made excellent grades in school.

Later, the record reveals, she did not fare so well and the arrival of high school age, found her making just the necessary passing average.

She was married at the age of 15.

Building Burns Near E. New Castle

One Of Structures Of New Castle Fireworks Company Destroyed

LOSS IS PLACED AT ABOUT $1,000

Approximately $1,000.00 worth of damage was done at the plant of the New Castle Fireworks Company on the Ellwood Road before noon today, when one of the buildings used for the manufacture of fireworks burned down.

Because of the flimsy construction of the building and the lack of water, it burned to the ground before the firemen could get to the scene.

The building was used for the assembling of set pieces known as "waterfalls" or "Vesuvian Mountains." The building was made of thin board and the contents were almost entirely paper tubes used for the set pieces. A heating stove was used to provide heat for the four employees who worked in this building.

Paul Rozzi, manager of the plant does not know what caused the fire but thinks the stove may have become overheated. When the flames first started the three women and a man working in the building, fearing explosion, rushed out leaving coats, overcoats and galoshes inside. These were lost.

There was no insurance.

SUSPECTS ACCUSE EACH OTHER IN HORST MYSTERY

Early solution of the mystery of the disappearance of Melvin Horst, four-year-old Orrville, O., youth, is expected by authorities of the little town with two suspects, under grilling, each accusing the other of slaying the boy. Photo above shows Charles Hanna, who declares Melvin was murdered by Earl Conald in the garage in Orrville, shown to the right, Conald, in turn, has accused Hanna of doing away with the boy. LONDON, Feb. 17.—Great Britain will be forced to increase her naval program by thirty-five per cent, unless the French naval demands are radically reduced, it was learned today.

Trainman Sees Men Digging For Body Of Missing Youngster

It was about five o'clock this morning, when the effort to find the body in the backyard of a colored man, located at the east side of Orrville and to the right side along the right of way of the Lake Erie and Western Railroad. And at six o'clock Mr. Foster was compelled to leave to go on his train. The effort to locate the body had been going on for some time when Mr. Foster was compelled to come back to this city in a hurry. Hanna was present and directed the search.

Administration's Law Enforcement Program Backed By Committee

Appropriations Of $2,000,000 Added For Coast Guard And Department Of Justice

Would Buy Boats To Aid Coast Guard Work—Other Projects

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Del., Feb. 17.—Four

seamen aboard the derelict barge Merrill of the Eastern Transportation company of Baltimore, were found dead today in the foundered barge when coast guards located the derelict near here following an all-night search.

The men died of exposure, according to messages sent the Cape May coast guard base here by U. S. cutters that had searched the turbulent sea for the missing barge.

The vessel foundered Sunday noon opposite Cape May during a stiff gale. It was one of three barges being towed by the Montrose from Norfolk, Va., to New York when the storm broke the tow ropes. The other two vessels were recaptured but by the time they had been towed into the bay no trace of the Merrill could be found.

The Merrill was last seen late in the afternoon about 10 miles south-southwest of the five fathom lightship off the Delaware capes drifting out to sea. The coast guard cutters Tampa of Lewes, Del., and Seneca from New York and coast guard patrol boat No. 218 from Cape May aided by rum chasers from Norfolk and Cape May joined in the search as darkness settled down. The high seas and darkness, however, handicapped the rescue boats and it was not until today that the barge was recaptured, according to the meager radio advices from the rescue ships.

Boats For Coast Guard The committee recommended $260,000 for the purchase of 30 small boats to be used by the coast guard in suppressing liquor and other smuggling on the Great Lakes. Rear-Admiral Billard, commander of the coast guard, told the committee that fast, high-powered boats are necessary to run down rum runners.

Diggers Fail To Locate Grave Of Little Horst Boy

One Of Accused Men Weakens And Points Out Supposed Grave

CLAIMS LAD BURIED IN ORVILLE YARD

Excavators However Fail To Find Any Semblance Of Burial Spot

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) WOOSTER, O., Feb. 17.—

The digging in the yard of the former home of Charles Hanna, at Orrville, in the hope of finding the body of 4-year-old Melvin Horst, was discontinued today, after the excavations had failed to disclose any clues or give any evidence of a grave.

Stalling For Time? Officials believe that Hanna, who told them he saw Earl Conald kill the Horst youngster, and later bury the body, was "stalling" for time. His statement came early this morning, following several hours of intensive grilling. Authorities declared Hanna felt the necessity of a respite from the grilling and therefore sent them on a "wild goose chase."

Hanna asserted he watched Conald bury the body under a pile of rubbish in his (Hanna's) back yard; that Conald killed the boy out of revenge against the lad's uncle, Roy Horst, who was, at the time the boy disappeared, December 27, 1928, marshal of Orrville. Horst had been energetically active against Conald due to the latter's alleged bootlegging activities.

Before abandoning the search for the purported body, workmen dug up the entire yard at the Hanna home to an average depth of six feet.

Both Hanna and Conald are being held in jail here in connection with the mysterious disappearance of the Horst boy. Each accuses the other of having committed the murder of the youngster.

Says Body Burned Wooster, O., Feb. 17.—Charles Hanna, 50, weakened by the almost incessant questioning to which he has been subjected since last Wednesday, broke down about 2 o'clock this morning and told the investigators where the body of 4-year-old Melvin Horst could be found.

Hanna claimed that Earl Conald killed the boy.

Hanna said that the body of the murdered Orrville lad had been buried in the rear yard of his former home at Orrville, beneath a pile of tin cans and ashes.

Accuses Conald Hanna still stuck to his signed statement which was made public last Thursday, in declaring that it was Conald who did the slaying of chubby little Melvin Horst. He consistently and repeatedly told authorities that Conald killed the lad in the garage on the property of Frank Frye at Orrville on the night of December 27, 1928.

As soon as the father of Junior Hanna, whose confession had implicated him and Conald, had told the location of the grave, the investigators went to the spot and began digging.

It was a gruesome sight—these Wayne county authorities digging for the body of little Melvin Horst, whose disappearance 14 months ago, developed into one of Ohio's greatest mysteries.

Tells Of Burying Body Hanna declared following the brutal murder, he and Conald took the boy's (Continued On Page Two)

Rotarians Hear Peace Pact Talk

Dr. E. B. Russell, Westminster Professor, Speaks At Noon

BRILLIANT ADDRESS ON KELLOGG PACT

War has become too dangerous to be used as a national policy and the time has come when nations must avoid it," declared Dr. E. B. Russell, head of the Department of History of Westminster college, in closing his eloquent and scholarly address on "The Kellogg Peace Pact" before the local Rotary club at the Castleton early this afternoon.

Dr. Russell, brought here by Rotarian W. Charles Wallace, president of the college, dwelt at length on the Kellogg pact. Possible results of the treaty were forecasted, and the question of reservations was discussed. He said that providing the reservations do nullify the treaty, and the entire pact is lived up to, it will prove great help to the cause of disarmament and tend to better international feelings.

After outlining in a brilliant and concise way the entire significance of the treaty as a whole, the speaker launched into a discussion of war itself. He said the time is upon us when we must face the question of whether or not we can get along without it, and then emphatically asserted that the risks of war today are too great to meddle in it. He said nations must let it alone.

Dr. Russell's address was a timely one inasmuch as the London disarmament conference of the powers is now at its height and the world awaits patiently hopeful for a solution to the problem.

Accompanying Dr. Russell as a guest was Fred Williams, Westminster college student.

FRENCH NAVAL DEMANDS HELD AS TOO RADICAL

New British estimate, the United States would be forced to build approximately 400,000 tons of warships. As both Britain and America are desirous of parity should be achieved, it appears that unless the French are influenced toward reduction of their demands, the next few years will see warship building on a monumental scale.

The situation would also force Japan into a building orgy in order to bring about the parity she demands with the navies of America and Britain.

Due to the illness of Premier Andre Tardieu, chief French delegate, there seems to be little chance of making any headway in reduction of the French demands this week at least. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson this morning telephoned to United States Ambassador Walter E. Edge in Paris requesting information concerning M. Tardieu's illness, and expressing his sympathy.

limp body to his home, which was then only two blocks from the Public Square at Greenville. He had previously told the investigators he did not know what Conrad had done with the body.

He told them how they laid the limp little form on the back porch of his small home, and how—while he (Hanna) watched from the inside of the house—Conrad dug the little grave.

When the "job" was finished, the two men went to the home of Raymond Horst, Melvin's father, where they found the boy's mother near collapse, due to the lad's disappearance for several hours.

Start Excavating

The investigating party, headed by Prosecutor Marion Graven, Special Prosecutor Walter J. Moughy and Ora Slater, the detective, went to Hanna's former home at Greenville and began digging. They worked for more than an hour, feverishly. They anticipated an end to the long-drawn-out mystery, for which innocent persons had been made to suffer.

More than an hour they examined the remains, their digging with flashlights and torches, but they failed to find the faintest sign of a boy's body, his clothing, or any of the remains.

Disgusted in part, but determined that they should uncover the grave, the little party returned to the jail, where Hanna and Conrad were confined.

They told Hanna, the digging had been of no avail. They returned to Greenville and took Hanna with them. Hanna told them they were digging in the right spot, but said they had not gone down deep enough. They were still digging today.

STAR LORE

"A SELF-MOVER"

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter.

We are in receipt of a letter from a man, stating that he has invented a perpetual motion, "a self-mover"; that he has proven it, has dismantled the instrument to preserve his secret, but wants to know how he may get to demonstrate his invention before a group of intelligent men who will credit him and protect his rights. The reader will say these claims have the sound of a self-deceived man. Eleven years ago the writer met a man in California, who had invented a perpetual motion, explained the principle and said: "In about two weeks you will hear all about it, as it will be written up in the papers."

clusion possible. So far, however, there has been disclosed a tremendous variance of the municipal and state statutes relating to prohibition, all the way from a total absence of local regulation to the drastic laws of some states which do not even legalize the issuance of prescriptions or the sale of medicinal liquor.

Wide Difference

Officials admitted there also is a wide difference in the cooperation given by local authorities, to the federal government, in the enforcement of the law. As a rule, it was found the cooperation has been to a greater degree in the smaller communities than in large cities.

As a result of the survey the government will have a fairly accurate picture of conditions and the various cities will be indexed, so a more equitable distribution of the federal forces may be made.

If the prohibition bureau is transferred to the justice department the information will be important to attorney general Mitchell as a basis for reorganization of the prohibition machine and the deployment of the dry army.

PINE STREET HOME IS GUTTED BY FIRE SUNDAY

passing the home of Fred Wilkes of 122 North Shenango street believed he saw smoke coming out the attic window. An investigation revealed that it was merely the smoke from the chimney following the roof and curling down beneath the eaves.

Another alarm was sounded from box 512 at 7:20 Sunday morning, when a hot water heating coil which had been placed in the furnace, burst, filling the cellar of the home of Emilio Bozzi of 839 Morton street with steam. Mrs. Bozzi was afraid to go to the cellar and called the firemen, but Fireman McManey, who took the call was unable to understand the woman clearly and thought she called from 839 Lutton street. Fireman Clark called in from the Seventh ward station and stated that they had received a call stating there was a fire at 839 Morton. Assistant Chief Stockman called into Central station again when he could find no blaze at 839 Lutton and was directed to go to Morton street. No damage had resulted from the bursting pipe, however.

Hurt On "The Whip" Asks For Damages

Suit Of Mrs. Marie Cropper Against Bert St. Clair For $50,000 Is On Trial

Suit for $50,000 damages for injuries sustained by Mrs. Marie Cropper of Pittsburgh while a passenger on "The Whip" at Cascade Park on May 30, 1927, was taken up for trial before Judge Chambers this morning. Bert St. Clair, operator of "The Whip," is defendant in the case.

It is claimed that on May 30 Mrs. Cropper came to New Castle with her children to spend the day at Cascade Park. She got on the amusement concession known as "The Whip" with her children and some friends.

They were to occupy three cars. Her children and friends had been seated. A companion of Mrs. Cropper had also been seated in the car ahead of her friends. Mrs. Cropper was in the act of being seated and had one foot in the car when it was suddenly started. She was thrown down and struck by the car back of her. Her injuries were such that she has been compelled to spend large amounts for doctor bills and has never been able to do her household work, she alleges.

It is claimed that the accident was due to the carelessness of the operator in starting the machinery before she had been seated.

EXPERTS CLASH IN BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

THE Eastern championship bridge tournament in New York brings out the information that all experts do not bid or play a given hand alike. Even advocates of the same school of bridge thought frequently clash.

The announcement should be comforting to us average players. If the great constellations have differences of opinion, it is not surprising that deflections from the true course appear among the rest of us ordinary mortals who are scarcely asteroids or satellites.

The fact deserves wide publicity for its Aesopian value to society. As every modern fabulist knows, bridge tends towards the unnecessary roughness which marred football. Indeed, it is worse; for in games of physical skill one commits mayhem only on the opposition, but in bridge one may make his partner the victim of anything from a kick in the shins to shooting. Married couples paired in duplicate contests, particularly, often betray conjugal infidelities. Now all this is unnecessary. The present bridge Olympic is proving that no bid is infallible and no lead is perfect. Strategy will vary with the individual. Everybody should have the same tolerance for the other fellow's style of card playing as for his religion or his politics.

RIGHTS: PROPERTY AND HUMAN

There is something ominous in the opposition, though it proved futile, in the senate to the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the supreme court if that opposition is anything deeper than embittered partisanship. Better that it be the workings of partisan bias than that other thing.

Hughes' detractors spoke of "property rights" as opposed to "human rights." Senator Dill, of Washington, characterized Mr. Hughes as "the greatest champion of property rights," and Senator Borah with forensic fireworks declared that "his are not views which ought to be made a permanent part of our legal and economic system."

Is this Washington or Moscow? It is in communistic Russia that property rights are destroyed in the fair name of human rights. Was not that also the kernel of the philosophy of the Marxian socialists? The very men now preaching in Washington shudder at the mere mention of communism and socialism, and a few years ago ridiculed the "Crown of Gold" of William Jennings Bryan.

Had it been an avowed socialist or communist who gave utterance to these un-democratic thoughts, instead of a Democrat and an insurgent Republican, the sergeant-at-arms would have ushered him with more force than ceremony from the senate floor and the nation would have been cast under the shadow of another "red terror."

This is the line of demarcation between property rights and human rights. Often the one is indistinguishable from the other and seldom can the one be taken away without destroying the other. Property rights have contributed as much as human rights to the upbuilding of the United States, and if the nation is to endure the sanctity of both must be protected. Russia, where property rights were abrogated for the exaltation of human rights, has left her people no rights.

And what is back of all this hysterical rhetoric in Washington? Legal arguments produced by Mr. Hughes as private counsel for some of the country's largest business interests, which radical animus chooses to consider the personal philosophy of the great lawyer and statesman. A barrister in court is speaking for his client, not for himself, and cannot be held personally accountable for opinions expressed there. Nor do such opinions follow him from one case to another, or in his elevation to the bench. Because a lawyer argues one way before the court is not proof that he would decide that way were he on the bench. Hughes' the corporation lawyer, was not Hughes, the supreme court justice.

LOWELL AND ITS CRIMELESS DAY

The hats of the residents of all the other cities in the country should be taken off to the people of Lowell, Massachusetts. Recently the superintendent of police of the venerable town presented a pair of white kid gloves to Judge Fisher in the district court. It was the revival of an old custom, and it signified that for a period of twenty-four hours there had not been a single arrest in the city. It was the first time in ten years and the eighth time in the city's history of ninety-four years.

It is a fine custom; and there would be reason for gratification were it carried out in the other cities of the United States. That there shall be an entire absence of crime in the large centres of population is perhaps too much to expect. But one would not like to say that it is an impossibility. At all events the example of Lowell should stand out like a beacon light to its sister cities. There is nothing more beautiful than the white flower of a blameless life. Unfortunately there are not so many to attain that distinction as we would wish for; though at least most of us can abstain from actual crime. That is a step in the right direction.

Things could be worse. Senator Borah might buy a radio station.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

It would be an interesting experiment, to canvas the homes where there have been divorces, and find out whether or not the women there paid much attention to homemaking, as a science. Whether or not they could make good waffles and cakes and biscuits, and whether or not they saw that the beds were comfortable and the floors thoroughly strewn with newspapers on Sunday.

The woman who claims to be one of the happiest in the world wrote me last week that she has healthy children, a devoted husband, lots of debts, none of the city conveniences in her home, no furnace, indoor water, or electricity, and her piano has two keys missing, but she thinks life is GRAND!

She told me she could make biscuits that were just as good as angel food cake. I couldn't resist the temptation to write for her recipe and she sent it to me. It's such a wow I'm going to pass it on. She says they are snowed in right now (she lives near Omaha) but with biscuits like these I don't imagine her family cares.

The recipe as she wrote it: Two cups of flour, two rounded teaspoons baking powder, one half level teaspoon salt. Sift these into mixing bowl.

Make a nest in the middle of this flour and into it drop two heaping tablespoons shortening (we like 'em short).

One cup sour milk. Mix one half of the milk with the shortening, and stir until well mixed, drawing in the flour little at a time, as you stir. In the remaining half cup of sour milk put one half level teaspoon of soda and mix thoroughly. Add this to the mixture in the bowl and stir the whole as quickly as possible.

Roll out, cut and bake in not too hot an oven. This makes 15 biscuits.

If you don't succeed with this, well, you will have to come out here and let me show you how to make them."

MRS. J. M. S.

Mr. Hughes, Chief Justice.

Whisky Owns Page One.

Henry Ford's New Plan.

Philadelphia's Best.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features
Syn., Inc.)

EMPORIA, Kan., Feb. 17.—Mr. Hughes is now Chief Justice, and the people have in their service a man of great ability, profound knowledge of the law, and highest integrity. They know that Mr. Hughes, for the sake of public service, exchanges a private law practice worth $500,000 a year for the small wages paid by the richest nation to its highest judges.

Senator Norris and others opposed Mr. Hughes' confirmation, alleging that the newly-appointed chief justice is too much in sympathy with great corporations. If that is so, he is in sympathy with the United States government, for great corporations are really the government of the United States. Whoever does not know that, knows little.

Some radicals suggest that we take our Supreme Court judges too seriously choosing them among ordinary men, then bowing down and groveling before them, as ancient Egyptians chose their sacred ox, from among many oxen, and worshipped that ox as a god. The objection is in sound; men must look up to something and they could choose to respect and reverence nothing better than those to whom the Constitution gives power to interpret and even to nullify laws after the people's representatives have passed them. That does not mean, however, that citizens must give up the right to think for themselves, or forget that 120,000,000 Americans are above corporations, Supreme Court, President and everything else.

How long will the front pages be devoted to whisky. Passing through Arizona you find on the Albuquerque Journal's front page, edited by Messrs. Peperday and Pickrel, these headlines:

"Farmer wounds deputy, is shot dead in dry raid on house."
"Liquor cases in Oklahoma are finished."

"Patrons who take own liquor to cafes will face arrest."

"Former judge and 14 other Pittsburghers acquitted of prohibition violation charge."

"One hundred and thirty-two indicted in St. Louis for Jones law dry offenses."

"Negro hadn't heard of prohibition law."

And more about whisky on inside pages. Isn't it time for this country, somehow or other, to settle its whisky problem and attend to something else?

Henry Ford may spend $100,000,000 establishing schools that will enable students to "fit into life" when they come out at 18 years of age. He says "the reason we have so much crime and racketeering is because schools do not teach our young men how to fit in the world." Racketeering is nothing but a revolt against the present improper intellectual system of teaching.

Schools at present are better than they were 50 years ago, before racketeering became a science. Students should all learn to use their hands, particularly those not well adapted to using their heads. It would be waste of time for men of the type of Voltaire, Milton, Moliere, Beethoven, to learn a trade, but they are scarce.

Mr. Ford should modify his resolution to "devote the best of his life to educational undertaking." Part of his effort should produce tractors of the caterpillar type. Plenty of power with the tractor "track." Fully enclosed. Protected from dust.

He ought especially to push ahead the aviation work in which he has already rendered great service. Until he has built his plane to carry 500 passengers and his pursuit plane to go 500 miles an hour, Mr. Ford's most important work will remain undone. Many can teach trades; few can build machinery for hundreds of millions of people.

The Bok award of $10,000 of "the Philadelphia man" during the year has performed an act of service calculated to advance the best and largest interest of Philadelphia goes to Mr. Connie Mack. He, as you probably know, rejuvenated the "Athletics" baseball team, winning the American League pennant and world series.

Connie Mack no doubt delighted thousands of children of all ages in and out of Philadelphia. But what were other Philadelphians doing during the year? You would expect an award in Monksland to go to a monkey able to throw a coconut farthest and fastest. Some other sign of excellence would be expected among intellectual Philadelphians.

Roll out, cut and bake in not too hot an oven. This makes 15 biscuits.

If you don't succeed with this, well, you will have to come out here and let me show you how to make them."

THE COST

They wanted only happiness. They had no heart for care. They tried in vain to miss the pain. All mortals have to bear. And so they never had a child. And gave this reason why. They feared too much grief's cruel touch. If one they loved should die.

They thought they could select from life. Its easy joys to gain. And spend their years, secure from tears. And all the stings of pain. And so they gave to trivial joys. Their hearts and minds, until Their courage failed and pleasure staled. As pleasure must and will.

And all they grasped time took away. And all they kept they lost. For happiness grows less and less. For those who count its cost. And who would know the joy of life. The risk of grief must brave. Men pay with pain for all they gain. And weep their smiles to save. (Copyright, 1930, Edgar A. Guest)

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, offered the following prayer:

Our Father from whom all blessings flow, Thou dost continue to pour abroad divine beneficence and Thy patience and mercies transcend our greatest conception. We ask Thee to interpret for us our daily tasks and duties. O Thou who dost breathe upon the whole creation, reveal Thyself unto those who seek the truth. In our affections, in our friendships, and in our labors may we have the underlying strength of God. We pray for this congress and the entire citizenship of our republic. As the nations are looking toward us may intemperance indulgence and ambition be destroyed. Come to every heart and fill it with love and give to every human faculty divine power. Amen.

Humanized Submarine Policy Believed Hard To Establish

Most Hopeful Of American Comments Look To Force Of Public Opinion Or To New Methods Of Overcoming Undersea Peril

Deadlocked on the proposal to abolish the submarine has brought to the front the idea of "humanized submarine warfare" at the Naval Conference, but in this country the idea is accepted pretty generally as a flat contradiction in terms. Some, however, believe that new methods of fighting undersea boats will be evolved and that world opinion may act as restraint upon the violation of the rights of noncombatants.

"It may be possible to limit the size and thereby the cruising radius of the undersea craft," suggests the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, pointing out that "a submarine of 3,000 tons, such as the French Navy is now constructing, capable of carrying 11-inch guns and aircraft, and having a cruising radius that would carry it half around the world, is something else."

To propose to 'humanize' the submarine is to propose to declare the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD. "It is principally effective when it violates all humanity's laws. It is most valuable when it sinks merchantmen, destroys commerce, strikes terror among noncombatants." That paper advises that "one of the tests of American and British statesmanship at the perley will be the result they gain, or fail to gain, against this most barbarous tool of warfare."

Considering a French suggestion of "political guarantees in place of undersea boats," the NEW YORK SUN asserts: "That the United States should engage in such a compact is beyond belief. The proposal to link the fortunes of the nation to those of another power, to jeopardize its peace in quarrels with the origin of which it had no concern, is opposed to the policy and practice of the United States."

The French people are reminded by the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS that "if submarines had been eliminated previous to 1914, their country would have derived an incalculable advantage from the act," that "they had many submarines in the war, but those boats contributed nothing to the defense of France." The Evening News, however, adds that the French people "will agree to the humanizing of submarine operations, and they must recognize that submarines thus maintained in activity are not worth maintaining."

"If submarines cannot be abolished, it will be little use to try to regulate their employment in war," avers the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL, while the DULUTH HERALD argues: "War isn't a thing that lends itself to humanization. Its purpose being to kill and destroy, those most likely to succeed in it are those who are most efficient in dealing death and destruction. The temptation, therefore, to throw off rules and limitations, which presents itself to a nation facing defeat is likely to prove too strong to resist." The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS calls the proposal "a sort of applied idealism that is more praiseworthy than practical."

"The submarine fights from ambush," states the FORT WORTH RECORD-TELEGRAM, "and its greatest value lies in its ability to clear the surface of vessels ordinarily treated as exempt. It might be interesting reading to construct a code for 'humanizing' its operations—but the recollection of the 'scrap of paper' declaration is too acute for it to register much enthusiasm." The SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW warns that "France, in a potential future war, if it found itself hard pressed, would be under severe temptation to repeat the tactics of its armament, and to plead that it was justified in following the German precedent."

"The French stand is not by any means unreasonable," concedes the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, with the explanation: "The practicality of such 'humanization' may be questioned, since opinions might differ as to what constituted heavy armament, and also a nation fighting for her life is likely to mislay some of scruples with respect to the use of any weapon that happens to be available. Still, the French counter-suggestion should be deliberated seriously, and with a full realization that an attempt is being made to meet England and America at least part way on the question."

Why every woman who values beauty needs the services and advice of a Professional Beauty Expert

Modern beauty culture has been making tremendous strides—today, it has become a science practiced by specialists whose sole task is to safeguard and accent beauty.

DURING recent years, beauty science has been so highly developed by the experts in this comparatively new profession that every woman can now make the most of her natural loveliness.

Laboratories are workrooms for research. Schools of beauty culture have been developed to teach workers not only the methods of perfecting external beauty, but also laws affecting good health.

Today—to add that finish, that perfection of grooming, which distinguishes the truly fastidious woman from her less particular sisters—a certain professional touch is needed. The deft, well-trained, skilful touch of the beauty expert.

Since Cleopatra's time

The quest for beauty is not new. Neither is the science of beauty culture. Both began when history began. But in more recent years we have had greater leisure, more time for perfecting ourselves, less need for the crude, heavy makeshifts of pioneer days.

And we have turned, naturally enough, to those whose experience qualifies them to help us—the beauty specialists.

Your beauty expert applies, to your individual case, the methods best suited to bring out your own natural loveliness.

Go to Paris, home of beauty in all its forms; or to Rome, Madrid, London, Berlin, Budapest, Vienna! Wherever you travel—either here in the United States or abroad—you will seek out experts to help protect and revitalize your good looks.

Throughout the world

And it is therefore particularly interesting that more than 19,000 of these experts today recommend Palmolive Soap. What a remarkable tribute to the purity, the blandness, the delicacy, of this vegetable oil soap... which is based on an age-old formula combining palm and olive oils for beauty cleansing!

Palmolive does not—not would anyone claim that it did—make all other beauty care unnecessary. It aids your beauty specialist by providing the finest natural skin cleanser, the greatest day-in-and-day-out safeguard for facial beauty. Its thorough, gentle cleansing, of course, makes the work of the beauty specialist easier.

And it is, for the same reason, an ideal bath soap.

That is one of many reasons why 19,813 world-famous beauty experts recommend it... why they unite to urge "foundation cleansing by one means and one only—the twice daily use of Palmolive Soap."

This advertisement is published in the interests of lovelier complexions and the furtherance of the beauty profession by the Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co.

A family doctor's laxative is the sensible choice!

YOUR health is too important! You can't afford experiments with your delicate bowels when a coated tongue, bad breath, gas, headaches, nausea, feverishness, biliousness, lack of appetite, and no energy, warn of constipation. This applies not only to grown people; it is particularly the case where young children are concerned.

That's why a family doctor's laxative is always the safe choice! Only a doctor knows just what will cleanse the system of men, women or children without harm.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is prepared today under strict supervision from freshest herbs and other pure ingredients, and exactly according to Dr. Caldwell's original prescription.

He was a family doctor for more than forty-seven years. He specialized in the disorders of the digestive tract. He tested this prescription in thousands of cases. Men liked its quick and thorough action; the children liked its pleasant taste; old people praised it because it never gripes.

Today, millions of families rely on Dr. Caldwell's judgment in the selection of their laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is now sold in all drug stores. It is the world's largest selling laxative.

Customs Change In Medicine, Too

The Trend of Modern Medical Practice Is Away from Needless "Dosing"

Back in the old "horse and buggy" days, Vicks VapoRub was the pioneer of a new idea in the treatment of colds. The custom then was to give large doses of internal medicines for colds and almost every human ailment. Vicks originated the better method of treating colds without "dosing."

at the same time, it gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled directly to the inflamed air-passages.

In Over 60 Countries

Today the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing," and millions of families in more than 60 countries use Vicks for all cold troubles.

To keep pace with this ever-growing demand, the figures in the familiar Vicks slogan are again being changed. First announced when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly"—later raised to "21 Million," there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly" in the United States alone.

Just rubbed on, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster; and

Relics And Antiques Of Unusual Interest Will Be Exhibited By Various Clubs

(By JANET KISSINGER)

Relics and antiques from all parts of the world will be collected in the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday, February 18. This promises to be no ordinary exhibit of antiques. The Fine Arts Department of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's clubs has been making a great effort to see that the public is afforded an opportunity of viewing such an unusual display. Mrs. Clinton Kesey is chairman and Mrs. Joseph Pyle is assistant chairman of the committee in charge.

An Indian outfit of amazing beauty will be contributed to the exhibition by a prominent woman of New Castle. The Indian clothes are the genuine outfit worn by a well-dressed Sioux Indian brave, during his tribal ceremonies, and is similar to the outfit secured by ex-President, Calvin Coolidge.

The Indian clothes were shown to the writer. It is a marvelous outfit. The vest worn by the Sioux brave is a solid mass of beautiful beads, strung and sewed on soft buckskin. The beads, in a systematic design, cover the entire outside surface of the buckskin, and the vest is as heavy as a man's overcoat.

Then, there is the ceremonial Indian hat—a beautiful thing, and made of material and feathers which the white man very seldom sees. The black and white feathers trail from the head of the wearer to the ground. Bright colored beads adorn the front of the cap. It is a remarkable piece of work, to see this alone, it would be worth anyone's time to drop in at the Y. W. C. A., Tuesday.

An outer coat worn by the Indian chief will also be exhibited. Red, pink, yellow and white horses, made of beads, decorate the front of this buckskin jacket. In the center of the back there is the beaded picture of the American Eagle.

"The art of making this beadwork will be lost to the next generation of Indians," according to the owner of the ceremonial outfit. "The younger Indians take no interest in the work, and it is an art which can only be taught by the experienced old Indian squaws."

Other accessories to the outfit are moccasins, and chaps, made of buckskin.

But that exhibit is only an appetizer to the many, many, interesting things to be found in the Y. W. C. A.

Another prominent member of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's clubs will contribute mosaics from the Duomo of Florence, a young famous for its mosaics. Those mosaics are just out of Venice, and will draw much interest Tuesday.

Then there will be rugs, dolls, shawls, cameos, old jewelry an old silver, photographic arts, cartoons, daguerotypes and tin types, patriotic relic, innards, old lamps and old musical instruments, old manuscripts, old letters, old documents, and needle work—in fact, there will be everything.

Coroner's Jury, All Women, Exonerates Driver Of Auto

WARREN, Pa., Feb. 17.—For the first time in the history of the county a coroner's jury composed entirely of women sat in the case of Milburn Anderson, aged 7, who, while coasting collided with the auto of Edward Anne.

The jury found that "Milburn Anderson, Jr., died at the Warren General hospital, from injuries received while coasting in Pleasant township, near Warren borough line, when he collided with an automobile driven by Edward Anne, of Warren, Pa., the said accident being caused by the icy condition of the highway where the collision occurred."

"The jury feels from the evidence submitted that Mr. Anne operator of the said car, exercised all possible care to avoid the accident and should be exonerated from all blame."

"The jury further feels that the highway was cindered at the time the accident would not have occurred, and that the highway department was delinquent in not protecting a dangerous point."

Peter's Adventures

MRS. FLORENCE BY VINCENT

"HELP! HELP!"

Wise or foolish, whatever Dragon-Fly had been about to remark Peter never knew, for he was interrupted by a shrill squeak. Lady Bug rose to flutter in that excitable way she had when anything out of the usual happened.

"The flyers are here!" shrieked she. Sure enough, they were.

"Oh, boy, how glad I am to see you again!" cried a pleasant voice, and Peter looked up to find himself gazing straight into the kind eyes of his old friend of the Flower Garden, Sir Butterfly.

"Hurrah! You here!" exclaimed Peter. "How happy I am now! Do you know, I rather expected by this time you'd have forgotten all about me. How are all the flowers? Is Rose the same sweet blossom as ever? And did Lily get over her cross spell?"

"All is harmony in the flower garden!" chuckled Butterfly. "As a matter of fact Lily and Rose are the best of friends except when Lily is jealous. Lily does enjoy visitors, and when Bee or Butterfly call upon Rose and pass her by, it hurts Lily's feelings. How the blossoms did want to come to the drowsy daisy. Dear little Violet dropped a tear of dew because she couldn't. But the moths are on their way!"

"And one of them's here!" shrieked a voice, and Death's Head, the miller moth, greeted Peter.

"Help, help!" Sir Butterfly shrieked at the top of his voice, and shot up into the air. Taking fright, Death's Head shot up beside him.

"What's the matter, sirs?" cried Peter, who knew well enough.

"We spy an ancient enemy," answered the flyers in one breath. "Sir Dragon-Fly stands beside you, or we miss our guess. Be warned in time, you human, and get out of his way. He spares nobody for nothing!"

Tin Can Week Is Thing Of Past

Tin Can Week is a thing of the past according to city hall attaches as the collection of tin cans problems has been solved by Howard Phillips, superintendent of the collection of garbage. One truck is kept collecting cans and the other trucks collect garbage.

A few years ago Tin Can Week was the signal for people to store tin cans until spring and they littered the streets until the truck arrived. By the method now in effect no large supply of tin cans remain to be hauled away once a year.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions of fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

A Question Box reader would like to know if it is true that King George of England opened the London naval conference with a speech which his ministers had prepared for him, without being permitted to change a word—or if the British ministry simply agreed on a general policy and, within prescribed limits, the king was allowed to write his own address.

It is a fact that the king of England expresses himself with no such freedom as the president of the United States. Generally speaking, the ministry prepares all royal addresses and the king recites them word for word. This is not a written rule but it is well understood and the king positively would endanger his position if he broke it—at least in any important particular. It so happens, however, that King George V was educated for the navy and probably derided the necessities better than most of his ministers—not as a king, but as a technical expert. Therefore it is reasonable to believe that he really had a good deal to say about this particular speech. Nevertheless he certainly did not deliver it without the finished product's detailed O. K. by his ministry.

What kind of money and what is the value of a coin stamped "1 Killing Danske K. M." and dated 1771? Danish. No value here. It may have some in Denmark.

Is it by act of congress that certain employers are permitted to bring Mexican labor into the United States? Who is the chairman of the congressional committee on immigration?

No law forbids the admission of workers from Mexico or Canada. The quota law does not cover them. However, they may not be brought in under contract, and it is unlikely that anyone is doing so on that basis. Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California is chairman of the senate committee on immigration; Representative Albert Johnson of Washington is chairman of the corresponding committee of the house of representatives.

If there any real prospect of fulfillment of the plan to create a waterway from Washington to Pittsburgh by way of the Potomac and Cumberland (Md.)? If so, when?

Inland waterways are receiving strong encouragement of late but it is too soon to guess on specific projects or dates.

What is "blind production," referred to by Secretary of Agriculture Hyde? The planting and cultivation of crops without regard to the probable market for them at harvest time.

Term "Charleyhorse" Came From Old, Stiff "Charley", Who Was New Castle Horse

(By JANET KISSINGER)

Charley was a tall, rangy looking horse. He was for many years, a familiar sight upon the streets of New Castle, and he was as well-known as some of the fastest race horses of his day.

Charley wasn't noted for his racing ability, but he was noted for being about the slowest horse that ever walked on four legs. The animal's front legs were stiff and he walked with a peculiar gait.

Strange to say, for this very trait, Charley, was the inspiration of a phrase which became known all over the United States, and is still used in the sporting world.

Very few people in the United States know how the phrase "Charleyhorse" was originated.

There is no more curious term in baseball slang, or one more widespread in use, than the expression "Charleyhorse." When an athlete became slightly lame or if he had stiff muscles in his arm or in any way not in the best condition to compete, he had "Charleyhorse."

According to Ed Bigley, a player on the Neshannock baseball team, of 1874, Joe Quest, another member of the original Nocks, and later a National league player, was the originator of the word "Charleyhorse."

When Quest was playing a baseball game in Indiana, one of the players, in running the bases, ran with a peculiar limp. Joe Quest made the remark that the man ran like Charley horse. The term caught on at once and very soon, became a nation wide phrase. The term is now used to designate many different peculiarities in sportland. It is a recognized part of sport language everywhere.

Who would have believed that old, decrepid Charley would have become so famous overnight? Names of the fleetest and most beautiful horses of the world die in the memory of the rapid moving world, but the name of our own Charley horse remains.

The horse was kept on the Quest and Shaw property, at the present location of the Buick garage, on South street.

To hear those who remember seeing the old and decrepid horse, Charley must have certainly been some character.

"It was comical to see the old bird travel," the writer was told. "He really did move, though and I guess he eventually would get to his destination. To cross town, it was necessary to start Charley going early in the morning, so as to get over town before dark—almost!"

Clothiers say a man can dress well on about $4,500 a year. Not on a $25 a week salary, he can't.

SORE THROATS Serious Now:

A sore spot no larger than a quarter can spread to the whole throat overnight. Gargle the very moment you feel the least soreness. Physicians recommend Bayer Aspirin for this purpose. It allays all inflammation immediately. It reduces the infection. Just crush two tablets in four tablespoons of water, and gargle well. It's a wise plan to take Bayer Aspirin after exposure to bad weather or whenever a cold threatens. If you ever have neuralgia, neuritis, or rheumatism, you should never be without this quick antidote for all such aches and pains. Genuine Bayer Aspirin is harmless. See that tablets bear the name, thus:

Finds Youth Drinks Less In Dry Era

Educator Says Reports Will Show High School Pupils
Have Cut Use Of Liquor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Indications that there has been less drinking among high school pupils under the prohibition laws than there was prior to their enactment were described as being reflected in reports in a survey being made at the request of the Hoover law enforcement commission. J. W. Crabtree, secretary of the National Education Association, said that his organization had been asked by the commission to aid it in making contact with sources of information and that early reports that he had seen indicated that there was less drinking by pupils under the dry laws than there had been before. Crabtree said that while he did not feel at liberty to make public the reports, his familiarity with school conditions had led him to anticipate such a result. He added that he expected the findings of the survey to be made public soon.

Thousands Give Reports
His organization, Crabtree said, had been called upon by the commission to furnish the names of high school principals over the country, who in turn were requested for information upon the subject. Thousands of principals already have complied with the request, he added.

Crabtree said that in addition to co-operating with the law enforcement commission, the national association was lending its hand to further various other federal projects.

Among these, he said, was an effort to speed up school construction in accordance with the recent request of President Hoover that building work be accelerated to relieve financial depression.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 18.
Taxpayers are advised by the bureau of internal revenue carefully to present their claims with regard to deductions for losses. To be allowed such losses must conform closely to the wording of the statute. Losses are deductible if incurred in the taxpayer's trade, business or profession; in any transaction entered into for profit; or from fires, storms, shipwrecks, or other casualties; or by theft, if not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

The term "transaction entered into for profit" means any kind of business proposition. For example, a taxpayer purchases an automobile to be used for business purposes, which he sells at a loss. As this is a business proposition from start to finish, the loss sustained is deductible. But if he had purchased the automobile to be used for pleasure or convenience, the deduction would not be allowable. It was not a transaction entered into for profit.

Business losses result, usually, from the purchase and sale of merchandise. Such losses usually are ascertained by means of inventories, which are required whenever in the opinion of the commissioner of internal revenue their use is necessary to determine the income of any taxpayer.

Man Is Nervous,
Prevents Holdup

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 17.—"Don't be nonchalant be nervous!"

That was Mr. Gelsky's advice today to a group of admirers who surrounded Gelsky while he recounted how he inadvertently foiled a trio of armed highwaymen here.

Gelsky was parking his automobile in front of his home when three bandits stepped up to the machine with the usual terse command—"stick 'em up."

Gelsky started to comply. As his shaking hands ascended, his nervous fingers came in contact with the button of the automobile horn.

The raucous shriek of the siren sent all three men scampering away in the darkness.

Judge McLaughry Of Mercer County To Hear Cases Without Outside Aid

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 17.—Forty-three cases are listed for hearing at the February Common Court which opened its sessions today.

Judge J. A. McLaughry will hear the list unassisted.

Over half the number are damage suits brought to collect as the result of automobile accidents or injuries that are the outgrowth of them.

Among other interesting cases listed is the action of the Matro-Goldwyn Mayer Motion Picture Company vs. Samuel Friedman. They are suing on a contract made for motion pictures. The case is the first of its kind ever tried in the county.

FEED WILD BIRDS
Two tons of food bought at the expense of the state game commission and distributed by hundreds of Mercer county sportsmen outlines the winter program of 1929-1930 on the part of Game Warden Frank Fair to keep alive the game of the county.

During last winter, Fair reported feeding of 3000 quail and 500 ring-necked. The number this year have not been estimated yet but are equal that number if not larger based on the food distributed.

Boy Scouts, members of the sportsmen club, the Isaac Walton League members, rural mail carriers, members of the railroad section crews are all assistants in this humanitarian work. Were it not for this effort each winter there would be no birds in a very few years it is estimated. Even with the care given them the birds are dying faster than they can increase their own numbers.

Women Sponsor Memorial Park Project In City

Ground Purchased By City To Be Beautified Through Interest Of Woman's Club

BENEFIT BRIDGE PARTY TO BE HELD

Through the interest of the Women's club of New Castle, the plot of ground situated across from the Jameson Memorial hospital, which was purchased by the city for a Memorial Park, will be fitted up for this purpose.

Plans are already underway for a big benefit bridge party and fashion show, which will be held Tuesday evening, February 25th at 8 p. m. in the New Castle Dry Goods Co. building, as a means of raising a portion of the money needed for this purpose.

Council purchased the plot of ground last summer to provide a fitting setting for the new hospital, which was the gift to the citizens of New Castle of the late David Jameson, his wife, Mrs. Jessie Jameson, and his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Jameson McCree. No provision was made however, for its beautification. The Women's club, which has always taken an active interest in civic projects, has made the Memorial Park one of its major projects for the coming year, and hope to have work started on the improvement of the grounds this spring.

Mrs. Howard M. Kirk has been named general chairman of the committee in charge of the entire project being under the direction of the Ways and Means committee and Welfare committee of the Woman's club.

At the coming card party, bridge, 500, and euchre will be featured, but any other game that is desired can be played, including dominoes, rummy, old maid, etc.

It is hoped to have a hundred tables guaranteed by New Castle citizens, and tickets have already been placed on sale at the Snyder Piano Co.

Members of the Woman's club will act as models for the fashion show, which is planned as one of the big features of the party, and which is being staged through the courtesy of the New Castle Dry Goods company.

The various sub-committees which have been named to aid in the project are as follows:

Patrons' Committee—Mrs. George Ralph, chairman; Mrs. Elsie Kaplan, Mrs. William Glasser, Mrs. C. W. Mayberry, Mrs. R. C. McKinley, Mrs. William Moody, Mrs. W. J. Offutt, Mrs. C. B. Randall, Mrs. S. E. Sowersby, Mrs. Quincy L. McBride, Mrs. B. H. Kamenberg, and Mrs. E. A. Fenton.

Ticket Committee—Mrs. W. H. Hanger, chairman; Mrs. John Offutt, Mrs. F. W. Guy, Mrs. C. R. Ralph, Mrs. A. C. McCoy, Mrs. C. J. Kirk, Mrs. J. F. Perelman.

POLICE OFFICER IS DISCHARGED AFTER HEARING

Hilliers. Attorney Samuel L. Clark represented the accused patrolman and City Solicitor White acted as the prosecutor.

It was testified by Dominic Pecano, Wayne street, that on December 26, 1927, he had been ordered by Llewellyn to leave Liberty and Cherry streets and that the officer had taken hold of his arm, turned him around and he fell, breaking an arm.

Reno testified that in July, 1929, he drove across Croton avenue and East Washington and the policeman instructed him to drive faster by saying "Get a move on!" "Step on it!" and "Drop a nickel in it!" Later Reno was placed under arrest by Llewellyn but was discharged by Mayor Gillespie.

Lieutenant Hilliers testified that in the fall of 1928 the patrolman had been 50 minutes in a house of alleged disorderly conduct in Race street. He said that he received complaints about the place and officer and personally investigated the charge and "checked" Llewellyn while he was at the house.

Allegedly Accused Women. Relative to the charge that he had accosted Mrs. Lawrence Williams and Mrs. Agnes Simpson in East Washington street, between the hours of 7:30 and 8:30 p. m. January 27, 1930, and which resulted in his suspension, Mrs. Simpson was the first witness called.

She testified that the patrolman spoke to Mrs. Williams at Croton avenue and East Washington street and she nodded her head. They proceeded eastward and the officer is alleged to have followed them and that he called to Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Simpson stepped aside, she said.

On cross-examination by Attorney Clark she did not hear the conversation near the Wheldon Motor Car company place of business.

"Did you recall Mrs. Williams stepping out of her 'pump' and saying she had got a wet foot?"

"Yes."

"Wasn't that what she was telling Llewellyn?"

"She might have. I could not say."

"You did not hear one disrespectful word?"

"I did not hear one thing—only what she told me," replied the witness, as previously Mrs. Simpson on direct examination had testified Mrs. Williams had told her Llewellyn had asked her for a date.

Mrs. Williams Testifies. Mrs. Williams was called to the stand and said she was the wife of Lawrence Williams, 739 Pearl street. She was asked by Solicitor White if she knew the officer and said: "I know the officer as a 'nodding' acquaintance."

Mrs. Williams said that they had lived formerly in the same neighborhood and then the East Washington street incident was brought up.

She testified Mrs. Simpson and she were walking in Washington street and when Llewellyn addressed her she nodded then they looked into a window.

She testified he followed and said, "I want to speak to you."

Mrs. Williams said she recollected saying "my foot is wet" and she then met him at 9:30 p. m. and that he said he had a key to the Wheldon garage.

She testified that she said "Sure" with the intention of reporting him and said when she got home she telephoned the sergeant of police and later talked to the mayor.

On cross-examination she denied the patrolman had asked her where she was living and when asked if she had noticed Llewellyn go to Court street because two cars were skidding she denied he had and maintained that "he asked me for a date."

"Didn't he say 'I'll see you again'?"

"No. He said 9:30 p. m. I reported it to my husband at 12 o'clock. I had already called in," meaning to the sergeant of police.

Llewellyn's attorney endeavored to show that Llewellyn maintained he went to look after the cars and in leaving said: "I'll see you again."

In answer to a question by Councilman Treser she said she "made a date for the intention of reporting him."

Mrs. Williams admitted nodding to Llewellyn when he stroled with his baby in her neighborhood.

She said she could not understand why he had asked her for the "date."

Husband Testifies. Lawrence Williams, husband, was called, testified under questioning by Solicitor White that when he arrived home his wife recited the incident and when excused from the witness stand, glared at Llewellyn and said: "I do not think he is much of an officer. An officer is supposed to protect people on the street. You dirty scum. I might see you again!"

Attorney Clark called Llewellyn in his own behalf and the officer said in regard to the fracture of Pecano's arm that he had complaints of boys at Liberty and Cherry street.

talked about where she was living and said she had moved to Pearl street.

Denies Making "Date". He said "If you live there you live right back of where I lived," and testified she told him her foot was wet and Mrs. Simpson had a cold and they had to get home. He maintained that at this juncture two cars attracted his attention. The night was slushy, he said, and testified one car horn was blowing and one had a difficult time to stop.

"I turned around and said to the ladies: 'Good night, I'll see you again.'"

He went, he testified, to the barber shop, the proprietor was not in and "the next thing I knew it was reported to the office."

Solicitor White asked Llewellyn if he had not been told by the city was not liable for the Pecano case. Llewellyn denied White told him this.

What occasion had Mrs. Williams to tell you she had to go home?" White asked.

"I don't know," replied Llewellyn. He denied he told her he had a key to the Wheldon garage as he kept his car in Diamond way, he testified.

Councilman Burns quizzed Llewellyn and developed the officer until January 27 had no speaking acquaintance with Mrs. Williams.

"Where were you at 9:30 p. m. January 27?" asked Councilman Treser.

"I believe I was at the Lawrence confectionery," Llewellyn replied.

Mrs. Williams said she reported the incident to the police sergeant between 9 and 9:30 p. m. January 27.

A copy of the report made out by Sergeant David Nelson was submitted to council and it was read.

Council for Llewellyn asked for dismissal of the charges. He said the body had the job and reputation of Llewellyn in its hand. It is your duty, said the attorney to determine the truth or innocence and said that when other incidents in the past had happened action should then have been taken.

He said that while Llewellyn had pushed Pecano there was no real violence and the matter in three years old. In regard to Reno's testimony he said he was evidently driving too slow for traffic at a busy intersection and that there was no vile or abusive language.

Relative to Llewellyn in disorderly house, he maintained it is in places that real information comes to the police and showed that police do go into those places for investigation.

Relative to the accusation of Mrs. Williams he said, "I do not want to say a word of disrespect of Mrs. Williams. She seems like a nice lady. This petition says the officer followed her. All the statements say it was 15 minutes later that he 'run across' them."

He then recited about her foot being wet and said the officer remarked "I'll see you again some time." Clark maintained Llewellyn's garage was a mile away. He asked if the police had a report why someone was not detailed to watch him.

"It is one word against another. If you allow that any person will have a right to come in and cause the dismissal of any policeman. There is no corroboration. There may have been a misunderstanding. An officer is not going to try and make a date with a woman he has only a speaking acquaintance with."

He said the city should "stand back of an officer" and if you don't how can you expect citizens to?"

Councilman Burns said the testimony could be discussed later.

"Let us settle it right now," remarked Reeves.

He made a motion for the discharge of Llewellyn. Burns second the motion and said he believed Mrs. Williams story.

Councilman Genkinger said: "I feel like Mr. Burns. I do not expect police officers to be perfect. None of us are, but in this case this lady would not humiliate or embarrass herself by making such a statement, if not true. It is an officer's duty to protect women. If officers don't, how can laymen? We have to uphold our women and see that women get protection and it is up to them and citizens to prevent insults."

Council then voted on Reeves' motion recommending the discharge of Patrolman Llewellyn and it passed unanimously.

It's seldom that anyone has been accused of stealing an alarm clock in order to get an early start in the morning, but apparently that was the thing that must have actuated the man reported to the police Saturday night by John H. After looking one of those shown him over carefully he asked if he might take it outside to show his wife. He was obligingly permitted to do so. And both he and the alarm clock are still missing. He was described as being an American, about 33 years of age, five feet one or two inches in height, weighing about 165 or 170, and wearing a gray hat and gray overcoat.

PULLING ANOTHER WILD ONE

Lack Of Food Menaces Deer Increase In Penna.

Animals Killed In All But Six Counties Of State And Hunting Ground Prominence Of Commonwealth Is Known Far And Wide; Bucks Feed High.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17.—Pennsylvania's prominence in the realm of game is facing a serious deflation in the near future unless an adequate food supply for deer can be procured. This was revealed here Saturday by Thomas E. Winecoff, of the bureau of research and information, State Board of Game Commissioners.

Some idea of Pennsylvania's status in the field of hunting and game administration may be gained, he said, from the fact that last year deer were seen in all but one county in the State and that deer were killed in all but six counties.

This is no freak of statistics or phenomenon, he pointed out, for comparison of Pennsylvania's kills with those in equal seasons in other States shows Pennsylvania to have more deer and deer within its confines than any other State in the Union.

The lack of food for game in Pennsylvania is most noticeable among deer, Winecoff said, this being particularly true in six counties—of which Clearfield is the worst, with Centre and Clinton running a close second and third. This food shortage has caused the deer in these counties to invade farms in a search for food, resulting in a heavy financial loss to farmers in these areas from loss of vegetables eaten by the deer and trampled garden plots.

In Clearfield county last year 270 fawns were found dead, but the cause of their death is still a mystery as to whether it was poisoning from eating improper food or from starvation or disease. In an effort to overcome this food shortage, which most seriously affects the fawns, several methods have been unsuccessfully tried.

Efforts to drive deer to sections more abundant with food have failed, for the animals have only been driven out with utmost trouble and then, when the drive ended, returned to their former home.

Trapping and shipping of deer to better feeding sections were abandoned because the wildness of the animal often resulting in serious damage to it in its efforts to gain its freedom.

The latest method is to cut and bend aspen and soft maple trees so that enough sap remains in the trunk to nourish new shoots, thus providing low-lying food for the deer without denuding the forest.

This experiment has been done only on State game and forest lands, or other areas where permission has been given and then has been limited to trees which should have been cut down to provide a better stand of timber.

The reason fawns are the principal starvation sufferers is the mature doe and buck will stand on their hind legs to reach food at the higher levels and survive after the low lying food has been consumed, leaving none for the younger and smaller animals.

At the present time at Pennsylvania State College experiments are being conducted with a herd of deer in an enclosed area to determine what foods are best suited for deer and which, if any, are poisonous and detrimental.

At the same time, wherever possible, food is being placed in the Pennsylvania forests not only for deer, but for all kinds of game to enable them to survive the present bad winter conditions and shortage of food created by last summer's drought.

Charge Plot To Frame Grove City Man Uncovered

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Pa., Feb. 17.—Through the confession of Chandler Hinds, which the police say he made in the jail at Mercer, a plot to "frame" Christ Page, a restaurant keeper of Grove City has been uncovered, police say. In his confession Hinds is said to have admitted planting five gallons of liquor on the property of Page in order to get him arrested. Page was arrested and held in jail for $1,500.00.

Police immediately arrested Constable C. W. Brannon of Pine township, charged with conspiracy in the case and he is being questioned today in the office of District Attorney Leo McKay. Police are also looking for Harry Bell, who served time for bootlegging as he is thought to be at the bottom of the conspiracy.

It is alleged that the framing of Page resulted from a feud started some years ago when Page's automobile collided with Bell's. At that time Bell suffered a broken leg and also was arrested and served time for transporting liquor.

Finefrock Here After Long Trip

In Terrific Storm On Atlantic While Making Crossing In Freighter

Fred Finefrock of this city, who has seen practically every country in the world, is home again after a trip which took him through Germany, Holland and Belgium. Shipping as an able bodied seaman from Beaumont, Texas in November, Mr. Finefrock made the trip over on a freighter. A terrific North Atlantic storm nearly sank the vessel, the gale blowing about 75 miles per hour and the waves piling up forty-five feet high. Five vessels went down within a radius of 500 miles of the one on which Mr. Finefrock was working.

On the other side he visited many cities in Germany, and Holland and spent some time in Brussels and Antwerp. He expects to leave New Castle this week for New York where he will ship as a seaman on some boat making a trip down the South American coast.

In the past few years he has worked his way to the Philippines, the Orient, India, Malay, Pago Pago, Australia and Europe. South America is one of the few places he has not seen and this he intends to do this Spring.

Enjoying Deserved Rest In Southland

Miss Eva Raney, Retired By Pennsy, To Return Here About March 1

Miss Eva Raney of this city, retired from the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad February 1, after having been in the company's employ continuously for 42 years, is enjoying a deserved rest and vacation in southern climes at the present time.

Miss Raney was stationed at the Philadelphia general office of the system at the time of retirement and went to Florida direct from there.

In a letter to Mrs. E. O. Raney of 610 County Line street, Miss Raney writes that she is enjoying to the fullest her stay in the southland. She states that it will probably be terminated about March 1, for her intentions are to return to reside in New Castle.

Miss Raney holds the distinction of being the first lady stenographer for the Pennsylvania company.

Abdominal Pains Dangerous Signal of Gall Bladder

Physicians say thousands have Gall Bladder trouble and think it's stomach pains, indigestion or intestinal distress. Nature's warnings are constipation, biliousness, head pains, dizziness and especially pains under the ribs on the right side. This is caused by lack of fluid in the bile, and the bile thickening so the gall bladder will not empty.

Klax-Ko is guaranteed to thin the bile, overcome gall bladder inflammation, lazy liver, constipation and bring you genuine benefit. Get a 30-day treatment today from Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., or your own druggist.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

All roads lead to New Wilmington tonight. That is all the hard roads. The Center of Culture has become, for the nonce, the center of eating, and every Rotarian within hailing distance, and some of them have a long distance haul, will be present and accounted for.

This is the evening when the annual flapjack feed is held and some of the world's records are tottering on their throne. Flapjacks and sausage for the main course, with sausage and flapjacks for dessert. He profits most who serves best, is the motto of the Rotary outfit, and tonight the best service in this part of the western hemisphere will be the service of flapjacks, with sausage.

They must be good. When the Secretary of Labor will come from Washington, D. C., just to inhale a yard or two of cakes and tangle up with a dozen links of sausage, you know they must be good. Back in the days when he was Jim Davis the Puddler, he had an appetite for cakes and sausage that was known over several counties. Now that he is the Honorable James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, the hands that were horny from handling the pudding tongs have softened a bit, but the appetite for cakes and sausage remains.

This is not meant for belittling. But you might expect a sign on school property to be spelled right. Or perhaps the school authorities didn't put it there. Anyway, the sign in the yard of the North street school reads, "No Parking On This Property".

A perfectly good day's work was all up today. Just about the time a fellow gets reconciled to ice, and heavy gloves and chains, along comes a lad who has come back from a trip and after sitting on the edge of your desk for fifteen minutes orating on the beauties of this place and that, walks out promising to write from Rio de Janeiro.

Fred Finefrock was in today, just back from Germany, Holland, Belgium and points east. Too cold here for him so he's going to South America. Every time I see him he is either just coming in or going out somewhere. His travelling expenses are cheap. Signs up as an able bodied seaman on a freighter bound for Hongkong, Cadix, or Port Said. Works his way across, makes some money for working and sees the world.

Talk about Pago Pago, and he's been there. Hongkong, Calcutta, Straits Settlement, Sydney and Melbourne, Honolulu, London, Paris, Brussels, and most any port you can name. He's seen them all.

While he talked my mind was doing a lot of broad jumping. Open water, and rugged cliffs passed by, heavy mid-ocean swells, long sandy beaches, moonlight on Waikiki Beach, sunset in Holland, morning on the Suez Canal, the old mind was running riot, and here's this chap sitting on the desk explaining that it's too cold here and he thinks he will go to South America.

Rather imagine he has more miles to his credit than any other chap his age in New Castle.

Cadet Teachers Complete Month Of Teaching Friday

Westminster Seniors To Return To Classes At Start Of Next Week

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 17.—Seventy-five Westminster college seniors who are receiving one month of practical experience in high schools and junior high schools in New Castle, Sharon, Farrell, and in schools of the Pittsburgh district will complete their work on Friday of this week and will return to New Wilmington where they will take up their regular class work on Monday.

The college faculty, by special ruling, granted the cadet teachers a month's leave of absence. Most of the courses in which the seniors are registered have not started, since most advanced courses are for fourth-year students only. As a result, there will be little or no actual work to be made up, but classes will have double assignments so that the work for the semester can be covered.

When the seniors report back to the college, Professors J. A. Shott and J. D. Lawther of the education department will hand out report blanks on which information gleaned in the month as a cadet teacher will be entered. Later on, reports from the various schools concerning the seniors will also be tabulated by the department. This will be filed and will be used later when seniors make applications for teaching positions.

In addition to this project, in compliance with state department regulations, Westminster is offering advanced courses in education and teaching methods which are honored by the State department. During the first semester, Professor J. A. Shott offered an extension course for teachers in educational sociology. Dr. C. A. Dawson, head of the department of English, is offering a course in teachers' English this semester. These classes meet on Saturday mornings. A few undergraduates are enrolled, but for the most part the personnel of the class is composed of junior high school and high school teachers from nearby towns and cities. Twelve teachers are enrolled in Dr. Dawson's course this semester.

Becker, who conducts a gas filling station on the Leechburg road, north of Arnold, turned his gun in the direction of Police Chief Fred Matthews when the latter responded to a call that the man was chasing his wife and two children with a razor and shotgun.

Matthews ignored the shotgun and started for Becker. Two reports rang out, each charge missing the officer. Matthews whipped out his own pistol and fired, the bullet lodging in Becker's left shoulder.

A charge of pointing firearms with intent to kill will be preferred against Becker, Matthews said.

Fat Folks Eat Less Than the Thin

A Gland Is Weak

VERY often we find that fat people eat less than thin people. They are naturally careful in their diet. So it is evident, generally, that something else causes excess fat. There is usually an under-active gland. Modern physicians, in treating obesity, seek to supply the deficiency.

The factor they use is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. It largely explains the results. A book in each box of Marmola gives the formula and states why it leads to reduction.

Marmola is prepared in a famous medical laboratory, to deal in the right way with excess fat. People have used it for 22 years—millions of boxes of it. They have told the results to others, until people now employ it in a larger way than ever.

Do what those people have done. Don't starve, don't over-exercise. There is danger in both. Let Marmola supply the gland factor which is probably too scant. Watch the results for a little while, in lower weight, new health and vitality. Those results will tell you if this is the right way for you.

Do this for your own sake, for your family and friends. If your condition is abnormal, correct it. Get Marmola now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Steamer Admiral Benson Appears Doomed After Grounding In Columbia River

(International News Service) PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 17.—With seven of her passengers and her crew of 65 still aboard, the steamer Admiral Benson, apparently doomed, was still held fast aground at the mouth of the Columbia river today. While heading up the river for Portland in a heavy fog, the vessel grounded Saturday night.

Numerous vessels were standing by in an effort to save the $700,000 vessel, but maritime officials expressed the opinion that the ship would share the same fate as the freighter Laurel, which broke up when it grounded in the same vicinity several months ago.

Constable Took Wrong Machine

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 17.—Constable Herbert Steigewalt caused considerable consternation among a couple of automobile salesmen here when, rushing in great haste to the county jail, he took their automobile by mistake.

He discovered the error before he had gotten very far, however, when his attempts to throw the car in gear failed. He climbed out and called a mechanic. The gears were found to have been locked and then Steigewalt knew he had the wrong machine.

The frenzied salesmen bolted into the police station and notified the desk sergeant that their car had been stolen from in front of police headquarters.

"Not stolen, gentlemen," smiled the sergeant. "Just borrowed by mistake."

Men Attempt To Pass Bad Check

William E. Perver of the Army and Navy Store reported to the police Saturday evening an attempt made by two young men, between 18 and 20 years of age, to pass a bad check at his place of business.

They came into the store and desired to purchase a sweater and offered a check for $24 and some odd cents in payment. It bore the signature of "A. T. Murphy."

Mr. Perver called the bank on which the check was issued and found out that there were no funds listed at the bank in question in that name. The young men left without making the purchase by the time the banks opened.

"My daughter and I used Ten Herbs and we were both greatly benefited by your medicine," was the recent statement of Mrs. J. G. Bush, Box 44, R. F. D. 3, Greensburg, Pa. "I nearly always had stomach trouble. Gas would form from my undigested food, causing a heavy pressure on my heart, bloating and other terrible distress. Many herbs I tried hope to sufferers from ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Its ten wonderful natural ingredients go to the source of such health troubles, cleanse and tone up the entire system, and relieve rheumatism, neuritis and a general weak, run-down condition. No wonder there is such a great demand for Ten Herbs at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington street, this city, where this popular preparation is being introduced."

"I got so light-headed that I staggered, and this ailment also kept me from sleeping well. I think my liver was torpid, as sometimes I felt so sluggish and depressed that I could hardly keep going. "Ten Herbs was so highly praised that I tried your medicine, and it gave me satisfactory results. ## Governor Green Denies Charges Of Boisterous Party

Governor Of Michigan Writes To House Committee—Fails To "Dignify" Charges

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Gov. Fred W. Green of Michigan, Saturday addressed a letter to the House Judiciary committee, which is investigating prohibition, in which he declined to "dignify" charges that he had attended a boisterous dinner near Detroit at which liquor was served, and scantily clad girls danced for the guests.

Gov. Green, however, did send the committee statements by four guests who were also guests at the dinner, each of which constituted a denial that liquor was consumed at the party and it was also denied there had been any dancing by scantily dressed girl performers. Green offered to appear before the committee if it desired to call him.

The dinner was described to the committee last week by Walter W. Liggitt, a magazine writer, as wet, boisterous and of the "whoopie" variety.

It's unforgivable

Don't let a case of halitosis jeopardize friendships, love affairs, and business relationships, as so many have done.

The intelligent and fastidious precaution is to use full strength Listerine every day as a mouth rinse. It ends bad breath and improves mouth hygiene.

Kills germs—destroys odors

Full strength Listerine ends halitosis because it is an active germicide, which attacks the germ conditions that produce odors. Then, being a powerful deodorant it destroys the odors themselves. Even the scent of onion and fish yield to it.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Punishment Sometimes Imperative

Once said a mother in my class, "I have a boy of four. He lies and steals. Every afternoon I put him to bed at a regular hour by the clock. He never sleeps. He gets up, walks around, takes my things from the dresser, hides some of them, and when I miss something, and ask him about it, he lies. He does not lie nor steal at other times."

"Your problem is not lying and stealing, Mother," I replied. "It is to teach him to stay in bed while he is supposed to be there. As you can see, the task is not an easy one. It will be expensive for you and for the child. It may be that you will prefer to let the matter drop and to demand going to bed no more in the afternoon, since you have failed so long, and since he will go to kindergarten in a year. But, if you want to have him rest each day, with the hope that he may sleep, proceed as follows:

"When he goes to bed on the next afternoon, say to him that he must not get up until the alarm clock rings. Set it for an hour. Don't tell him he must sleep; make no reference to sleeping. Tell him you are going to leave, but before you go, ask him if there is anything he wants. Then station yourself where you can see him and he cannot see you. The moment he rises, pull down his clothes, bare his bottom, and give him several vigorous slaps upon his fat thighs. Merely say 'You must not get up,' nothing more. Otherwise act as leniently as possible. Take him to his position again and be ready for his second rising. Proceed in like manner every time he rises. Don't leave until he falls asleep or the bell rings.

"Before you launch such a program, think the problem through. Don't begin until you are sure you will be able to succeed. Better add some extra hours to your sleep and recreation for a week or two before you start the task. Budget your time so that you always will be on hand every day at his regular nap period for several weeks. Let no exceptions occur. Unless you can apply immediate pain every time he gets up, you will only be a torturer. Of course he will cry. That is his privilege. Remember that the biggest problem is yourself."

The young mother slowly shook her head with the remark, "Pretty cruel! I will think about it."

A week went by. The class assembled and I began the lecture, but I was soon interrupted by that mother. "It worked," she said. "Here is my record. I began on Monday. Six times he got up and six times he was spanked. Then he fell asleep. On Tuesday he needed to be spanked twice. On Wednesday none, and on Thursday once. Since then he has been going to sleep almost immediately, never attempting to get up. And what a change it has made in his disposition and behavior during the remaining day!"

Two months later, when he was brought to me for mental testing, he was reported as sleeping regularly every afternoon. I found him rating on the Stanford-Binet scale two years above his age. Several months later it was found that he had taken his regular afternoon nap until he entered kindergarten.

which we cannot afford to trade for new-fashioned ones.

BRAINS

If you think you are a powerful thinker don't be sure about it. You are making small use of your brain. Dr. Hrdlicka, Smithsonian scientist, believes man has the inherent brain capacity to think from ten to a hundred times more effectively than he does now. The brain's mental gymnastics, in his opinion, depend upon its circulatory system. If its blood supply provisions were like those of the lungs, both in afflux and in elimination of waste, Dr. Hrdlicka says man would frequently be on the intellectual mountain tops.

There are moments he says, experienced once in awhile by every normal human being when he stands mentally above all life's perplexities in the sunshine of a Utopia. It is that the brain is fresh with a rich blood supply and no waste matter clutters the cells. This would be man's usual rather than very rare condition, he thinks, if the brain of its structure by a full, pure stream, carrying ample supplies of oxygen as well as nutritive materials.

Healthiest!

"My little daughter is just about the healthiest girl I know," says Mrs. L. Frank, 5822 Ludlow St. Philadelphia. "And I want to give credit where it is due."

"Phyllis was constipated several years ago and I gave her California Fig Syrup. It helped her so wonderfully that I have used it ever since for all her upsets or colds. It has kept her strong, energetic, rugged."

Children suffer when bowels aren't regular. Breath becomes fetid; tongue coated; eyes dull. When these symptoms are neglected, biliousness, feverishness, lack of appetite invariably follow.

The first dose of California Fig Syrup relieves these symptoms and activates sluggish bowels. Successive doses help tone and strengthen weak bowels; improve appetite; encourage digestion; and assimilation. Try it with a bilious, constipated child and see how it helps.

The pure vegetable product, endorsed by doctors for 50 years, always bears the name California. So look for it when buying.

Three Killed When Struck By Train

Frost On Windshield Makes It Difficult To See Tracks At Greenville

GREENVILLE, Pa., Feb. 17.—Three Greenville youths were killed, one instantly, when the small roadster in which they were riding was struck by the main street crossing of the Erie passenger train. The victims were Richard Smith, 23; Orrin Reagle, 22; and Edward Webber, 23. Smith was dragged from the crushed and twisted car dead while Reagle died en route to the Greenville hospital and Webber soon after being admitted.

The three youths had attended a dance at a hall near Greenville and were returning to their homes. The extreme coldness had formed a thick sheet of frost on the windshield, making visibility poor. The car when struck was carried on the pilot of the train for more than 300 feet until the train came to a full stop directly in front of the passenger station. The track at this point is up grade until it reaches the station and trains are said to be kept under power until within a few hundred yards of the regular stop. The station is located only 100 yards from the main street.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17.—Pennsylvania motor vehicle tags are "good" in the Belgian Congo, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Benjamin G. Eymon learned when he received a photograph from that far-away section of Africa.

The snapshot showed an automobile bearing Pennsylvania tags 15-141 standing before a mud and bamboo garage having a thatched roof.

Records show the tags were issued to Dr. C. K. Becker of Boyertown. Dr. Becker went to the Congo last August. From the port at which he landed he drove 800 miles into the interior of Africa, where he is administering to the natives.

Edison Enthusiastic About Rubber Plant

Famous Inventor Hopes By
Time He Is 90 Years Old
To Give World New
Rubber Plant

Works Diligently At Home In Florida To Perfect Latest
Scientific Discovery

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN,

Correspondent
(Copyright 1930 by International News Service)

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 17. — "Name doesn't mean much to me," Thomas A. Edison, world famous inventor of the electric light, the phonograph, the motion picture camera and numerous other devices of incalculable benefit to mankind, smilingly made this assertion today in his laboratory where he interrupted a 14-hour work day to grant the writer an exclusive interview—a virtually unprecedented privilege. For Mr. Edison's custom is to talk to the press only once a year, on the occasion of his birthday.

The gray-haired genius was concentrating on his latest scientific problem—rubber production—when the International News Service reporter entered the long, low green laboratory inside the barred gates of the Edison estate. He looked up, smiled, and shook hands.

Hopes For Success: Edison, who, when in the mood, answers questions without equivocation, revealed that he expects it will require "from six to eight years" for him to complete his present scientific experiment—the production of a rubber plant adaptable to the United States that would give this country unlimited supply of rubber in the event of war. This means that Edison, who is now eighty-three years of age, figures on giving his next invention to the world at ninety.

It was necessary for the writer to write his questions for Mr. Edison in practically deaf. He answered verbally. Asked the question: "What is your reaction to fame—does it mean anything?" he replied:

"No, it does not mean much to me. What I am doing is playing a game. I am working away at what I like and what I believe I am adapted for. It's all a game when you analyze it."

"How are your rubber experiments progressing?" he was asked.

"Coming all right," he replied tersely.

"Are you devoting all your mind to the rubber experiments?"

"Nothing else. I always concentrate," he answered with a smile.

"This rubber research work is an enormous but very interesting problem. It is very complex. I am dealing with a plant whose characteristics are similar to that of a man, and you know how man's characteristics vary."

Six or Eight Years
"How many years do you think it will take to complete your rubber experiments?"

"I expect to be at it six or eight years yet," was Edison's reply.

Mr. Edison looked around his busy laboratory. Men were working away at mysterious looking bottles and examining plants, particularly new specimens of golden rod. Out on the acres adjoining the laboratory men were walking in and about plants, watering them, handling them tenderly, examining them closely. Edison himself spends hours daily among these plants.

"You are trying to evolve a rubber plant adaptable to this country—is that it?" Edison was asked.

"Yes, in the event of war rubber is one thing we could not do without. It is of great advantage in peace time, too. Our whole transportation business is getting to the point where we must have more rubber. Everything on wheels now! Even the airplanes have to have rubber on the wheels."

14,000 Plants
"How many different plants are you experimenting with?"

"We have collected approximately 14,000 different plants," said Mr. Edison. "I tested all of them and of the 14,000 a little over 1,200 have rubber. I have men collecting plants all over the country. They bring them here and I test them. Some of them are no good but others prove to be a surprise. It is these surprises that warm in inventor's heart."

Mr. Edison pointed to a plant which was tied to a tall board. His voice became enthusiastic as he declared:

"Look at that golden rod. See its tremendous height. It is twice as tall as the average man. Think of being able to discover a plant that tall! Think of being able to find a common weed growing in a certain place in Florida that is twice as high as any member of its family. Why, it's heightier than the ceiling in this house."

"I grow this golden rod like wheat. You saw grain growing twice as high as a man you'd be astonished. Well, that plant is twelve feet high and as straight as a die! This is the highest plant we have found."

Edison spoke as if it were a new discovery.

Rubber In It
"Is there rubber in it?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes, good rubber," he replied. "If you plant that you would get 75 per cent more rubber than produced by any plant in this country before. That's one of the things that makes you happy! There is 120 different variations in plants capable of producing rubber but here is a variation that is astounding. I say astounding because it is abnormally tall. It's a freak."

The world renowned inventor said golden rod would be grown in any state in the United States and as far north as Nome, Alaska. It does not require a tropical atmosphere to thrive.

"Then, Mr. Edison," he was asked, "you are trying to evolve one special type of rubber tree—a super-rubber tree, is that it?"

"No," he replied. "I'm trying to find the best rubber plant. Then I'll breed it, a la Burbank, to a plant of a higher per cent of rubber. In Napoleon's day sugar beets gave forth but 5 per cent sugar but today sugar beets give 28 per cent. The beets have been bred up so as to give the maximum sugar possibility."

Edison was lost in thought for several minutes as he contemplated his golden rod. There he sat, this man whom humanity owes an unpayable debt, thinking how he could do even more for mankind. Once, when pressed for a definition of genius, he coined the adage, "Genius is one per cent inspiration and ninety-nine per cent perspiration." He evidently still adheres to this belief.

Arthur White, of 9 East Cherry street, was en route south on Moravia street near Center street, when a truck of the Ward Baking company of Youngstown, driven by Chester L. Mr. White bumped his nose on the steering wheel of his machine and Mr. Jones took him to the New Castle hospital, where it was found that he had escaped serious injury.

Other Accidents:
H. P. Tustin of 422 Norwood avenue, reported to the police Sunday that a car bearing Ohio license 784-063 going north on Mill street hit and damaged a car bearing Pennsylvania license 88P81, which was parked in front of Love and Megown's. Some damage was done.

I. W. Darby, of 19 West street, Akron, O., reported that his machine was parked in front of 933 Maryland avenue, when a car bearing Ohio license 779-848 ran into and damaged his car.

John Freed of R. D. No. 4 reported that he was en route south on Croton avenue and was going around Pennsylvania license 89584, when the rear end of his machine skidded and hit and damaged the other machine.

Clair W. Badger, of R. D. No. 3, reported that while his machine was parked on Park avenue, that another machine going west hit and damaged the rear of his machine.

An automobile going 'at high speed skidded while attemptin' to turn at Saw Mill avenue an' Main street this mornin', turned over five times an' crashed through the show window of the Elite Hat Shop o' Mrs. Wes Peters. The car bore Ohio license an' the driver wuz severely cut about the face an' hands an' wuz still unconscious as this wuz written. It seems like ever' organization, political, social, benevolent, civic, commercial an' industrial, is bein' addressed right an' left these days on ever' problem, imaginary, actual, imminent, in the offin' or at our very door. Ever' extra fare train, de luxe bus, high-powered car, an' tiny, purrin' speck in the sky is hurryin' some orator on his way to fill a speakin' date. Ever' buddy that kin speak, or thinks he kin speak, ever' buddy with a message, is out in the world speakin'. Our town is practically deserted today. Tell Blinkley is in Mulberry Junction, where he's to address the Tornado Insurance Writers' Conclave

Miss Fawn Lippincott is givin' her poplar lecture, "Where Is My Daughter Tonight?", with slides, fer the third time before the ladies o' the Colonial Bridge Club at Wausylva, Ohio. Ther' gittin' to be so many organizations, women's clubs, business men's luncheons, civic societies, an' clubs an' groups o' ever' kind that it takes a floatin' army o' orators an' entertainers to cover the country. Most o' the orators are paid propagandists an' they kin well afford to speak fer ther luncheons an' mebbe ten or fifteen dollars. People are too busy, or too lazy to use ther noddies, to think fer selves, an' besides ther's so many topics, problems, an' propositions, confrontin' 'em today that ther glad enough to have some fly-by-night speaker mold ther opinions. ## Dog-Churn Has Been Used On Local Farm For Thirty Years

By JANET KISSINGER

In speaking of things which are gone, past and buried, but not forgotten, dog-churns deserve to be mentioned. Over a quarter of a century ago, dog-churns were common sights on Lawrence county farms.

But now—try and find one. There is one, however, and it is, in all probability, the only one in this county. It belongs to William Fisher, of the Mercer road, and has been in constant use on his farm, for the past 30 years.

The churn is in excellent condition, and, according to Mr. Fisher, is a very efficient type of churn. Attached to one side of the churn is a tread. The dog is fastened onto the tread, and keeps the tread moving. The moving tread furnishes the power for churning the butter. For their dog churning, last year, little churning has been done on the Fisher farm.

Dogs differed in their reactions toward churn day. Some liked the work and felt very important and they would even jump on the tread before the butter was ready to be churned. For others, churn day was an excellent reason why dogs leave home, and on that day, they were conspicuously among the missing. Still others did this with the greatest reluctance.

For example, one local old timer tells of a dog who had a habit of lying down on the job. The churn was made a little different than was usual, the churn being in the basement of the farmhouse and the paraphernalia for running it, outside.

Being a strong dog, and by exerting a good deal of effort, he could pull back on this arrangement and thereby lie down and enjoy a rest. In time the lady of the house found a way to circumvent this maneuver. It was by the simple method of pouring water on the dog from the kitchen window. The dog had an aversion to sleeping in the rain. In fact, he would rather even work.

But this extra clever canine went the lady of the house one better. He would take some time off, now and then, but he became so canny that when he heard the mistress beginning to get the water ready, he would start quickly get back on the job. Of course, he put that innocent look on his doggy face, which only a dog can never fail to get by with.

Mr. Fisher once had a dog which would run to the dog-churn and get on the tread, whenever he would get scared by a storm or any other such thing. Whether the dog thought the tread an extra safe place to be, in case the world was coming to an end, or whether he thought it was best to spend his last moments working is hard to say.

Simpson M. E. Church Broadcasts Services

Members Of Simpson M. E. Orchestra And Pastor Have Oil City Broadcast

New Castle friends were able Sunday afternoon and evening to listen to an interesting program over station WLBW, Oil City, when the pastor and orchestra of the Simpson Methodist church of this city, had charge of the services in the Franklin Gospel Tabernacle and broadcasted over the Oil City station.

About fifty members of the church motored to Franklin Sunday and in the afternoon Rev. H. L. Johnson, pastor of Simpson church, delivered a message before a well filled auditorium, on the "Unpardonable Sin" or "Grieving the Holy Spirit." In the evening his theme was "Why We Were Created," and his text "Prepare to Meet Thy God." Rev. Johnson, said today, as it was his first experience before the microphone, he forgot about the instrument and talked a little too loudly, so his audience in the farthest corners of the Tabernacle could hear him.

The orchestra numbers were well received and the features of the program included musical solo by Walter Matthews, a string trio, Harold Davis, Mrs. Reynolds and Mildred Gibbons; a duet by Esther Gibbons and Mr. Othwaite and solos by Esther Gibbons. An especially magnificent number was a selection in which each instrument of the orchestra played a solo part and a number by the horns of the orchestra was especially good. Rev. Mark Smith, who is at present at the Salvation Army of this city, gave some concertino solos. Rev. G. Edward Shafer of the New Bedford church, opened the services with prayer.

The party had to decline an invitation of the Tabernacle management to conduct a two weeks' campaign in their city.

Thursday evening, sponsored by the Salvation Army the orchestra will give a musical program.

The really uncomfortable phase of running into debt is running into creditors.

One More Arrested In Recent Thefts

Open Meeting Later

At the meeting of New Castle Lodge No. 195 I. O. O. F. to be held Tuesday evening in I. O. O. F. hall on North Mill street, the second and third degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates by special dispensation. It is anticipated that there will be a large turnout of the membership.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of American Industry
Master Craftsmen And Apprentices

SINCE THE MIDDLE AGES, GUILDS OF SKILLED ARTISANS, MASTER CRAFTSMEN, HAD EXISTED IN ENGLAND AND OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES TO MEET THE DEMAND FOR HANDMADE ARTICLES THAT COULD NOT BE PRODUCED WITH FACILITY IN THE HOME. THE MEMBERS OF THESE GUILDS, OR TRADE-UNIONS, TOOK PRIDE IN THEIR WORK, AND ENJOYED A HIGH STANDING IN THE COMMUNITY.

IT WAS THEN THE CUSTOM FOR A BOY, UPON CHOOSING A TRADE, TO BECOME AN APPRENTICE TO A "MASTER" CRAFTSMAN. FOR FOUR OR FIVE YEARS THE LAD SERVED HIS MASTER, MEANWHILE LEARNING ALL THERE WAS TO KNOW ABOUT THE TRADE.

WHEN THE APPRENTICE BECAME A "JOURNEYMAN," TRAVELING FROM PLACE TO PLACE, PICKING UP WORK WHEREVER HE FOUND IT, AND ADDING PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE TO HIS STORE OF KNOWLEDGE OF HIS CRAFT. AFTER FIVE YEARS OR MORE SPENT AS A JOURNEYMAN, HE APPEARED BEFORE THE MASTERS OF HIS GUILD AND SUBMITTED AN EXAMPLE OF HIS WORK TO THEM.

IF IT MET THE APPROVAL OF THE MASTERS, THE JOURNEYMAN WAS ADMITTED TO THE STANDING OF A "MASTER," AND WAS ENTITLED TO OPEN A SHOP OF HIS OWN. THIS SYSTEM PRODUCED A CLASS OF HIGHLY TRAINED, SPECIALIZED WORKERS, AND CONTINUED UNTIL THE MIDDLE OF THE 18TH CENTURY.

TOMORROW—THE "INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION."

NEW CASTLE DRY GOODS CO.

Bo Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—An expert has figured out that the odds on holding a perfect bridge hand are 637,000,000 to 1.

WALL STREET NOTE

Wall Street wouldn't have been so bad as an exclusive stamping ground for Bulls and Bears. It was the intrusion of the Hog that caused all the trouble.

FADING AUTOGRAPHS

They're beginning to bemoan the fact that the prevalence of typewriting is destroying the romance of letters. With the personal subscription passing away it is felt that autograph collectors, two generations hence, will be sadly handicapped.

But who is there today, with the possible exception of Senator Borah and Police Commissioner Grover Whalen, whose autograph will be worth a plugged dime two generations hence?

TOO MANY SYLLABLES

The Duchess says she wishes they'd tell the word "psittachosis" off the front page of her favorite newspaper. It's been on there now for at least six weeks. She knows it means parrot fever; but she can't pronounce "psittachosis" and it makes her made.

A REAL ENDORSEMENT

Arthur Byron, who plays the part of the warden in Martin Flavin's play "The Criminal Code," went up to Sing Sing prison the other day and gave a little talk to The Boys. Nobody knows what he told them but whatever he said was constructive and helpful. Byron has all the intelligent sympathy and the discernment that are parts of a great actor's equipment. His performance in "The Criminal Code" is one of the achievements of a long and distinguished career. The play deals with prison life and one of its best recommendations is the fact that Warden Lawes of Sing Sing has seen it twice.

AUK'S EGGS

There's a new cook book out called "The Gourmet's Almanac," by Allan Ross MacDougall, which tells you how to cook auk's eggs.

I don't know how much it costs, but whatever the price, any book that tells how to cook auk's eggs is worth it.

TODAY'S DEBATE

Old Doc Bruno Roselli, of the Italian department of Vassar college, brushed the crumbs off his vest the other afternoon at a luncheon and arose to remark that women's clubs are a menace. He said they make wives more educated than their husbands, that this widens the gap between and promotes the final schism.

When the Doc sat down Fanny Hurst got up to tell, metaphorically speaking, how goofy he was.

"Women's clubs," she said, "including the much maligned 'culture and uplift' societies are the white-hope of America, even if they do proceed on hemstitched lines of tabloid thinking."

SAFETY FIRST

Willard Parker, well known and justly celebrated Pennsylvania manufacturer, and Big Wig of the Baconian Society, breezed into town the other day to complete plans for a play the Baconians are about to produce proving beyond peradventure that Shakespeare never lived and that the stuff attributed to him was really written by Bacon.

"Which side do you take in this controversy?" Mr. Parker inquired of Your Pastor.

"I take the side of Bacon," replied The Pastor, with a merry rippling laugh.

TOO LATE

The doctors have discovered that the air is purest in New York at 4 o'clock in the morning.

Of course, they would have to discover that just after I quit poker!

A good time was had by all.

Grove Street Garage
Entered By Thieves

Garage of Dick Atwell, 308 Grove street, was entered Saturday night, according to the report made to the police and a black and brown overcoat, a bank book and some cancelled checks taken. Sergeant Grover Syling made the investigation and found that entrance had been gained by knocking off some boards that had been nailed over the windows.

This place has been entered several times recently.

Aviation and pedestrians face the same problem. Both are looking for landing places.

Former Grove City Resident Is Dead

Mrs. Margaret Dieble Passes Away At Home Of Daughter In Chicago

GROVE CITY, Feb. 17.—Word has been received in Grove City of the death of Mrs. Margaret Dieble, widow of Jacob Dieble, who died in the home of her daughter Mrs. Florence Gahagen of Chicago, Ill. The body was brought here Saturday at 10:00 and funeral services were held from the United Presbyterian church at 1 p. m. Dr. Homer Henderson was in charge of the services and interment was in Woodlawn cemetery.

Mrs. Dieble was a former resident of this city and is also survived by one other daughter, Mrs. Elsie McConnell of Claysville, Pa.

SET ROUND-UP DATE

April 11 is the date fixed for the County music and literary round-up to be held at Greenville. The events in both cases will be the same as last year. The Commercial contest will be held on the following day.

BUDDING SCULPTOR FOUND

Milton Stewart, a junior of Grove City High school gives great promise of being a famous sculptor. Recently he made a side view of the face of Abraham Lincoln.

Milton used modeling clay, shaped the face with a mold, and finished it with special finishing tools. The bust was completed in 25 minutes. It has attracted considerable attention.

LIBRARY CLUB MEETS

Library Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Creig Hoyt, South Center street this afternoon at 2 p. m. The subject of the meeting will be "Modern Books."

Mrs. Lois Cory Thompson will talk on the subject of "Fiction" and Mrs. H. O. White will lead a discussion on "Current Poetry". Mrs. C. E. McConkey will discuss the modern books on none fiction and the response will be a new book enjoyed.

Music will round out the meeting which will be followed by tea. The committee in charge of serving, Mrs. Creig Hoyt, Mrs. C. W. Burton, Mrs. G. J. Bridges, and George Easterbrook.

LOYALTY CLASS

The Loyalty Bible class of the First Presbyterian church will hold its regular business and social meeting this evening at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Homer M. Welch, West Main street.

TO ENTERTAIN CLUB

Mrs. C. H. Daugherty, College avenue, will be hostess to the members of the Colonial Club, Tuesday evening in her home. The evening will be spent socially and lunch will be served.

Brings World's Altitude Record To United States

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 17.—The world's altitude record for light airplanes rested in America's possession today following the feat of pilot B. F. Barney Zimmerley in climbing his Barling N B Monoplane to an unofficial altitude of 27,250 feet yesterday.

Two sealed barographs carried by Zimmerley and recording marks of 27,800 and 26,700 feet were sent to Washington for official checking by the national aeronautic association. Until these records are approved Zimmerley's record will remain unofficial.

The flight broke the old record of 22,250 feet for light planes which was established by Paul Baumer of Germany, July 8, 1927.

PASTOR AWAY FROM CITY FOR FEW DAYS

Rev. George Grambs, pastor of St. Andrews Episcopal church, this city is spending the day at the residence of the Rt. Rev. John C. Ward, bishop of Erie. He will spend Tuesday at Franklin attending a meeting of the Clericus to be held at that place.

And, speaking of the Irishmen, they are mighty good workmen.
